

Matt Groening is a Cartoonist and screenwriter best known for creating the television show "The Simpsons." He also invented the show "Futurama." The members of the cartoon Simpsons family were named after Groening's own parents and sisters. Bart was named by moving around the letters of "brat." There have been hundreds of episodes of "The Simpsons." Groening won many awards and got his own star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame in 2012.